My dear Mr. Knight,

I was surprised to receive your letter several days ago containing a check for $3.00, I did not think of any such thing. However, I thank you, and think that I can find a place for it. I was glad to do anything toward the building up of any scientific society, I was rather surprised that the audience was as large as it was and that they seemed to give attention. If it happens that I appear again before the public, I hope it will be found best to have a lantern, then I think I could talk then, even with a technical subject.

Yours truly
Chas. E. St. John
